"If women would pay more attention to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would observe results they would find that the doctors' prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for.

"In consulting with my druggist he advised McElree's Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me."

Wine of Cardui is a regulator of the menstrual functions and is a most astonishing tonic for women. It cures scanty, suppressed, too frequent, irregular and painful menstruation, falling of the womb, whites and flooding. It is helpful when approaching womanhood, during pregnancy, after childbirth and in change of life. It frequently brings a dear baby to homes that have been barren for years. All druggists have $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

"Miss Cecil Travers—Mr. Philip Saunders."

Some benevolent individual introduced them at the Pen and Pencil club. Saunders afterward spoke of him as "the hand of fate." But then he was under the sway of the blind god and so unresponsible for either his remarks or his eyesight.

It was certainly a case of love at first sight—on the part of Saunders. When he looked down into the dark eyes raised so frankly to his own, he gave up his heart unconditionally. In all his thirty-five years nothing had sent the blood rushing so riotously through his veins as the firm, warm clasp of her hand.

But he was a quiet, self controlled fellow, with a composure born of years of struggle up the uncertain literary ladder. So he did not hold the little hand a second longer than politeness demanded. There was no trace of eagerness in his manner as he sat down on the divan beside her and began to talk as few men and fewer women had heard him talk—brilliantly, with flashes of wit and sarcasm relieving the underlying earnestness of thought.

Cecil Travers was quite unconscious of the metamorphosis she was producing. She only thought that this big, blond man was not nearly as unapproachable as he looked. He was really charming. And, what was the more remarkable, he did not talk about himself.

The girl found this an unusual experience. As reader for one of the magazines and writer of short stories, she had met many men of many minds. "Yet," as she said pathetically to herself, "the minds always seem to turn inward. How can they write about the world around them when they are so absorbed in self?"

Her wonder grew when she discovered that he, too, was an author. She remembered now seeing his name signed to several clever sketches. He had never tried any with the Symposium. As he talked the desire to read some of his stories became overmastering.

"Why don't you send something to me at the Symposium?" she asked at length frankly.

He flushed up to the roots of his hair as he said hesitatingly, "I have been busy about something else, but I will—some time."

It was his first trace of awkwardness. Cecil could not know that the "something else" was the novel which was the work of many months and which was even then seeking a publisher. Not even to her dared he trust himself to speak of this child of his hopes. If the world gave it a welcome, ah, then! His thoughts were busy weaving a beautiful day dream, and its central figure was this dark eyed girl who was almost a stranger to him.

He awoke to realities with a start. Miss Travers, puzzled at his silence, had risen and was holding out her hand in goodby.

"You will come to see me some time, will you not, Mr. Saunders?" she asked with the frank smile that was her especial charm. "I have enjoyed my talk with you so very much that I would like to repeat it. I am always at home on Tuesdays and Thursdays."

Her tone was so cordial that he blushed and stammered over his thanks. He called himself a fool a minute afterward when he found himself standing stupidly staring at the doorway through which she had disappeared. But that did not prevent his going home in a strangely excited and exhilarated mood. The glamour of his day dream seemed still around him. And she, the lady of his dream—he loved her.

He whispered it to himself as he strode across the park, half fearful that the flickering lamps and the swaying branches might guess his secret, but in the silence of his room he said it boldly and the confident ring of the words seemed to echo the mad beating of his heart.

It was inevitable that the next Thursday night should find him in the parlor of Miss Travers' flat. It was equally inevitable that he should bend all his energies to hide his love from the smiling eyes of this girl, who treated him with an air of bon camaraderie fatal to sentiment.

It is doubtful whether even encouragement would have wrung the secret from his lips. The first joy of loving was past and in its place had come a flood of self distrust, of self depreciation. To his tortured mind an unbridgeable gulf of training and traditions seemed to sweep between them. She had been the petted child of rich parents, on whom had been lavished the gifts of a college education and years of foreign travel. This attempt at independence and self support had been treated as her latest whim and humored accordingly. He had scrambled from a common school education into the pitfalls that beset the path of a newspaper reporter. Every upward step had been bought at the price of hard work. It was but a short time since the problem of meeting his board bill had been an all important one.

That was the first of many calls, but the succeeding visits, while they strengthened his love, gave no courage for its declaration.

At last in his desperation a plan dawned upon him by which he might learn his fate and yet spare her the pain of a refusal. She had asked him to submit a story to the Symposium. He would send her one embodying his love and its hopelessness and offering two sequels for the choice of the reader. In the one the lover should boldly set aside the barriers of position and woo and win his ladylove. In the other he should patiently bow to the inevitable and devote his life to the uncertain happiness of literary success.

He bent himself feverishly to the task. For several weeks he had not dared to trust himself to call upon her. She would understand the reason why when she read the story he addressed with a trembling hand.

A day went by, another, a week. Saunders could not work; he could not sleep. He haunted the park and the streets where he had sometimes met her, hopeful yet fearful of meeting her again and reading in her face his answer.

At length, when ten days had passed and suspense had become almost unendurable, the postman left a bulky envelope in his letter box.

It was his story, and as he unfolded it a typewritten slip fluttered to the floor. He picked it up mechanically. It was the usual rejection slip, curt and businesslike, without an added line to soften the blow.

It might have been minutes, it might have been hours, that he sat there staring at the scrap of paper. Then, with a groan, he buried his face in his arms, as if to shut out the words. His castle in Spain had fallen down about his ears, and he sat among the ruins.

The sun was setting when he rose brusquely and went out into the air to walk and walk in the hope that physical weariness might stifle his suffering. The coolness of night brought a dogged courage to blot out the past, with its day dreams, and turn to the future.

But it was weary work. The end of the week found him so worn and haggard his friends declared he was overworked and advised rest and change. "Your novel is making such a success you can afford to do it," they urged. He only smiled bitterly and shook his head. It seemed such cruel mockery to think that the success of his cherished novel should bring him no happiness.

He was listlessly sorting his mail one morning when his eye fell upon a tiny blue envelope which had been hidden by the others. His heart seemed to leap into his throat, for he recognized the hand. He read:

Dear Mr. Saunders—It is so long since I have seen you that I am pining for one of our chats. To be sure, I have just come back from my three weeks' vacation, but then you had not been to see me for ever so long before that. Is there anything the matter? Come up tonight and perhaps I can explain. Yours sincerely,

CECIL TRAVERS.

Again Mr. Saunders sat staring at a piece of paper, but this time it was the shock of sudden joy. She had never seen his story. It had been turned down by her deputy reader.

He made most of the explanations that evening, but Miss Travers did not seem to mind.

How "Oliver Twist" Was Created.

Even the highest genius must sometimes borrow, or at least appropriate, the hints of others. Few, however, could make so fine use of a hint as Dickens could.

The true story of the origin of "Oliver Twist" is not generally known. It is this: After the amazing success of the "Pickwick Papers" Dickens was thinking of following it up by a story of London life, with which he was more familiar than with English country life.

Just about that time he happened to visit the studio of George Cruikshank and was shown some drawings the latter had made illustrating the career of a London thief.

There was a sketch of Fagin's den, with the Artful Dodger and Master Charley Bates, pictures of Bill Sikes and his dog and Nancy Sikes and lastly Fagin in the condemned cell. Dickens was much struck by the power of these character sketches, and the result was that he changed the whole plot of "Oliver Twist." Instead of taking him through spiritless adventures in the country he introduced him into the thieves' den in London, showed up their life of sin, but brought his hero through pure and undefiled.

Thus it will be seen that George Cruikshank, not Charles Dickens, was the originator of the leading characters that appear in "Oliver Twist."

Nature and Art In Greek Statues.

Archæologists have observed that in Greek statues the male eye is strongly arched, while the female eye has rather a flattened surface, and, referring to accounts by the older anatomists who have affirmed such a difference to exist, they have seen in this a fresh proof of the exact observation of nature by the ancient Greeks. The rule is not without exceptions, for the cornea in the Zeus of Otricoli has quite a flat form. Herr Greef recently set himself to inquire whether such a sexual difference actually exists, and from individual measurement of the radius of the cornea in the horizontal meridian he gets an average of 7.83 millimeters for men and 7.82 millimeters for women (Donders gives 7.858 and 7.799), so the difference is so small as to be imperceptible to the naked eye. Measurement of other dimensions gave but minute differences also. The author concludes that the Greeks from artistic motives did not in this case follow nature.—London Nature.

Knew of One.

"Another fellow and I have agreed to leave a certain matter to you. Is there such a thing as a stream without any banks?"

"Oh, yes; there's the gulf stream."

"Er—so there is! Thanks!"

But as he clumped heavily out, with his jaw hanging down, he left the impression in the mind of the answers to correspondents man that he had lost a bet.—Chicago News.

RED

Red is the color of danger, whether on the semaphore or on the skin. When the face is reddened by eruptions, when boils break out on the body, or the angry red of sores and ulcers is displayed in the flesh, it is nature's danger signal. The blood is obstructed and tainted by impurities, and there can be no safety until the blood is made pure.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery purifies the blood, and removes the effete matter which clogs and corrupts it. It cures pimples, boils, eczema, scrofula, sores, ulcers and other consequences of impure blood.

"I feel greatly thankful for what your medicine has done for me," writes Mrs Chas. Hood, of Kalkaska, Mich. "I suffered with scrofula of the head for twelve years. Tried every kind of medicine that I heard of but found no cure. Every one that looked at my head said they never saw anything like it. The last doctor I doctored with before applying to you I got worse every day. Was so miserable that I was unable to do any work at all. After taking two or three bottles of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and using the local treatment you prescribed for me, I was cured and my head was entirely free from scrofula."

Accept no substitute for Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. There is no other medicine which is "just as good" for diseases of the blood and the eruptions which are caused by the blood's impurity.

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send twenty-one one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or thirty-one stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo N. Y.

Profitable Feeding!

It is positive economy to buy the very best feed. You might feed a hen all she can eat on cheap feed and she will never lay an egg. Would you fatten a hog on hay? You might feed a hen until she was as fat as a goose, but fat hens are not good layers. It depends upon the kind of feed you give, whether they will lay enough eggs to return a profit. If you want the hens to lay, you must give them the kind of feed that makes egg production.

If you will feed one meal a day of the year round, many of the hens will lay 200 eggs during the year; but if you go on feeding in the old way, they will not lay one half that many.

Coulson's Egg Food is not expensive. You can buy it nearly as cheap as wheat—only $1.60 per sack in round lots.

The cost of feeding is from 12 to 15 cents per hundred hens, and if you mix other food with it, it would be still less.

Nearly 50 tons a month used by the poultrymen of Sonoma County.

Four weeks ago E. Classen of Penn's grove was getting four eggs a day. He bought half a ton of COULSONS EGG FOOD and gave the hens one meal a day of it, and he now gets 125 eggs a day, and each day more.

Poultrymen who will feed COULSONS EGG FOOD and will keep it up, will find it the very best kind of feed for laying hens.

Healthy hens, more eggs, more money.

Ten sacks of this feed for $16.

SONOMA INDEX-TRIBUNE.

Sonoma, Sonoma County, Cal., May 30, 1903.

H. H. GRANICE, EDITOR.

An Amusing Epistle to an Amusing Trustee.

City Trustee Breitenbach has on exhibition in the show window of his shop the following epistle. The letter is copied verbatim et literatum:

San Francisco, May 21, 1903.

My Dear Sir:

It might interest some of the mossbacks in Sonoma and the friends of the electric light company, that the light committee of the Board of Supervisors of this city and county, rejected all lighting bids to-day and the new calls for bids will be for electric arc lighting or Hydro Carbon arc lights. We have had an exhibition here for some time and this is the result of it. We are informed we shall get some of the work here. We have our lights placed along side of an electric arc light that they may see the difference between the power of an electric arc and ours. It is all in our favor, so we are not so Antediluvian as the INDEX would have you people think.

Yours truly,
GEO. J. CAMPBELL.

To G. Breitenbach.

We will introduce Mr. Campbell as the manager of the Meridan Hydro-Carbon Arc Light Company. As such he has a perfect right to boost his lights and to introduce them into this town for street lighting purposes in competition with the more modern electric light service of a local company maintained and operated with home capital That is his privilege if he can do it. In so far as the illuminating qualities of the lights he represents is concerned they are very good, but they are way behind the times when it comes to the maintenance of them on the public streets.

Take the streets of Sonoma, for instance. These can be lighted in a very satisfactory manner with twenty-five 32 candle incandescent electric lights for $50 per month without previous or further cost to the city. These lights can be turned off and on instantly and are in every way more desirable for a street lighting service than are the hydro-carbons, which are simply gasoline lamps set up on frail galvanized iron lamp posts that could easily be wrecked by coming in contact with a runaway team. To introduce twenty-five of these Meridan hydro-carbon arc lights on the streets of Sonoma would cost at the very outset $2,500 for the lamps and posts alone. Then would follow the cost of operating and maintaining them, which for a man to go the rounds to fill, clean and light them daily would entail an additional outlay of at least $50 per month, to say nothing about the cost of fuel and the wear and tear on the lamps, which are exposed to the elements night and day. Judging by the tests made here several months ago these hydro-carbons are not very practical for street-lighting purposes.

Now, in mentioning these facts we have no desire to do Mr. Campbell or the company he represents the slightest injustice, but we want the outside world to know that those people in this town who did not approve of the lights he represents are not the mossbacks that gentleman would make them out to be. On the contrary, the two or three persons who endeavored to foist these lights on the taxpayers are notorious silurians and pull-backs.

Mr. Campbell, whom we are quite sure acted in good faith in exhibiting his lights on our street-corners, evidently does not know that he was inveigled into Sonoma by two or three enemies of our local electric light company, who hate public spirit and private enterprise, to hold as a club over the heads of its eight stockholders to force them to give a $50 street-lighting service for $26. He ought to now realize that he was simply used as a cats-paw to pull municipal chestnuts from off a live electric light wire for two disgruntled City Trustees who very foolishly sought this method to frighten our people to submit to their will in this street lighting controvery with two City Trustees on the one side and nine-tenths of the taxpayers on the other, as the two petitions filed with the City Trustees some month ago will testify to,

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Diseased Vineyards.

Several years ago a disease appeared among the vineyards which in its course is more to be feared than the phylloxera and it is found in this and other sections of the state. It attacks the vine one season and the next or third season it is dead. During the existence of the disease no grapes are produced by the vine. The existence of such a disease here was recently reported to Mr. Richard Wheeler, representing the Wheeler's Orchard Remedies Co., which company made contracts last year for the re-establishing of vineyards badly afflicted with the phylloxera, in which work they are proving highly successful. Mr. Wheeler, in company with ex-supervisor Thompson, made an inspection of several vineyards in this section, among them the Gundlach and Bundschu, Mr. Glaister and the Dresel. Mr. Dresel was at home when these gentlemen called and was frank in his expressions, saying that the disease is far worse than the phylloxera and therefore more to be dreaded. He has lost a number of his vines by it, and where it will stop it is difficult to say. Mr. Wheeler says that the disease can be checked by spraying with Wheeler's I X L Compound.

It is the same disease as has prevailed at Cloverdale and where the growers have found it easily mastered by spraying with Wheeler's I X L Compound.

Too Great a Risk.

In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of colic or cholera morbus, often before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. A reliable remedy for these diseases should be kept on hand. The risk is too great for anyone to take. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has undoubtedly saved the lives of more people and relieved more pain and suffering than any other medicine in use. It can always be depended upon. We sell the greatest of blood purifiers, ACKER'S BLOOD ELIXIR, under a positive guarantee. It will cure all chronic and other blood poisons. If you have eruptions or sores on your body, or are pale, weak or run down, it is just what you need. We refund money if you are not satisfied. 50 cents and $1.00. R. G. Shoults, druggist.

Wakeful Children.

For a long time the two year old child of Mr. P. L. McPherson, 59 N. Tenth St., Harrisburg, Pa., would sleep but two or three hours in the early part of the night, which made it very hard for her parents. Her mother concluded that the child had stomach trouble, and gave her half of one of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which quieted her stomach and she slept the whole night through. The above will cheerfully be paid in lawful money of the United States, by the undersigned, proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, if they cannot show the original testimonials and signatures of the individuals volunteering those published below, and also of every testimonial among the thousands which they are constantly publishing attesting the superior curative properties of their several medicines, and thus proving the genuineness and reliability of all the multitude of testimonials volunteered by grateful people, in their behalf.

World's Dispensary Medical Association, Prop's, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE REASON.—There is no medicine equal to Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for the purifying of the blood. It carries off the poisons which contaminate the life fluid. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands and gives the body an increased supply of pure, body-building blood. It builds up the body with sound, healthy flesh instead of flabby fat, promotes the appetite, feeds the nerves, and so gives to weak nervous people vitality and vigor.

Many people wonder how a medicine that can cure indigestion can also cure blood diseases. The reason is that pimples, sores and all skin diseases are the direct result of impure blood. If we can find some way to purify the blood and eradicate the poisons—we can cure the disorder which shows on the skin. The "Discovery" helps the assimilation of food in the stomach—thus the blood takes up from the stomach what it requires to make good rich blood, thereby increasing the red blood-corpuscles. At the same time the liver is forced into activity and the poisons in the body are thrown out.

"I am pleased to tell you that three bottles of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has cured my husband of liver complaint and indigestion," writes Mrs. G. Hall, of Novar, Ontario, "He suffered for a long time with pain in his right side and had to leave off work several times. Tried three doctors here but they did not do any good; also tried several kinds of patent medicines but received no benefit. Then I wrote to you and you advised us to try your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' We got a bottle at once and before my husband had taken all of this one bottle he was feeling ever so much better and able to work again. He continued with the 'Discovery,' until he had taken three bottles and is now feeling better than for years. We both thank you, and, if you think by publishing this that it will benefit other sufferers, you are at liberty to do so. We have got several friends to try your 'Golden Medical Discovery' for different complaints and I am pleased to say that it has never failed. We wish you every success."

"This is to certify that I have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and think it's the grandest medicine in the world," writes Mrs. V. M. Young, of Weir, W. Va. "I took down sick in January last (six months ago) and called in our physician and he gave me medicine but I grew worse. He said I had dyspepsia in its worst form. I decided to try your medicine and began to improve. I used five bottles, two of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and three of 'Favorite Prescription,' and now am doing my own house work. A number of my lady friends also are using Dr. Pierce's medicine and they recommend it highly. May God bless and prosper you in your grand work."

"I take pleasure in recommending Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as a blood purifier," writes L. J. Smithwick, Esq., Accountant, of Norfolk, Va. "For years I was a sufferer from a very obstinate form of skin disease, commonly known as tetter, which, being confined to the palms of my hands and fingers, was very annoying. In cold weather the skin would become hard and dry and would break or crack, which was very painful.

"I wrote to Dr. Pierce stating the case and requesting his advice. He advised me to try his 'Golden Medical Discovery' to purify the blood after which he thought the skin trouble would all disappear, and I am grateful to say that after the fourth bottle there was no sign of the disease left. I think Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery a wonderful blood purifier and most heartily recommend it to all who may be suffering from any form of skin disease."

SINGULAR ACCIDENT TO BALL PLAYERS.

Sonoma Boy Badly Injured in Yolo County.

Campbell MacQuiddy, who left for Knight's Landing, Yolo county, the fore part of last week, is home again. His sudden return was caused by injuries received on the baseball grounds at that place Sunday, and he now lies at his home in the eastern suburbs of town with two ribs stove in and his forehead split open by coming in violent contact with another player while chasing a foul ball.

It appears that young McQuiddy, who is somewhat of an athlete, upon his arrival in Knight's Landing was impressed into service by the local baseball team. On the afternoon of the accident during the preliminaries of a very exciting game between the Knight's Landing and Woodland nines young MacQuiddy, in running after a foul ball, collided with another player with tremendous force. Both players were knocked completely out and had to be carried off the ball grounds.

When examined by a physician MacQuiddy was found to have sufferred the fracture of two ribs and a deep cut across the forehead which severed an artery. The other player had a leg broken.

Young McQuiddy's wounds were attended to by a Knight's Landing physician and he was then put aboard the cars in order that he might reach his home before his wounds became feverish. The surgeon, however, neglected to take up the severed artery and shortly after being put aboard the train the blood commenced to spurt from the cut in the forehead and the young man nearly bled to death before Suisun was reached and the services of another physician secured.

Young MacQuiddy's injuries will confine him to his home for some time.

NEW CITY HOTEL.

Will be Thrown Open to the Public Next Saturday

The New City Hotel, recently erected by Mr. and Mrs. L. Quartaroli will be formally thrown open to the public next Saturday evening

The event will be celebrated by a grand opening ball, to which the general public is invited.

The New City Hotel is a new two story structure and every room in the house is newly furnished. In fact from cellar to garret there is not a second-hand piece of furniture in the house. The new hotel is elegantly appointed throughout and will no doubt become a favorite among the general public. Mr. and Mrs. Quartaroli, who own the hotel, will also conduct it. They are experienced caterers, having been engaged in the hotel business in this place for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Quartaroli are among our most progressive people and deserve praise for their enterprise and public spirit. By close attention to business in this place they have made money, most of which has been put into their new hotel and the ten acres of town lots which surround it.

WANT DR. OSBORNE RE-INSTATED.

Big Petition to be Presented to the Directors of the California Home.

A petition is being circulated and numerously signed in this valley asking the directors of the California Home to appoint Dr. E. A. Osborne to his old position of Superintendent of the California Home at Eldridge. The petition will be presented at the meeting of the directors next month.

When Governor Pardee removed from office directors Gould, Leland and Harrington and appointed in their stead Robt. A. Poppe, C. E. Haven and Wm. Thomas it was virtually an endorsement of Dr. Osborne's superb administration of the Home's affairs previous to his removal and the converting of the Home into a political machine.

Be it said to Governor Pardee's credit that in re-appointing directors Rev. C. A. Bane and Rev. Wm. Lyons, and giving them as co-workers Wm. Thomas, Robt. A. Poppe and C. E. Haven, he has taken the California Home forever out of politics.

This step on Governor Pardee's part makes it possible for the new directors to place at the head of the institution the only man in the State who is really fitted by lifelong study and experience to manage its affairs as they should be managed.

Without disparagement to Dr. Dawson, the present acting Superintendent, whom we are quite sure is doing the best by the unfortunate inmates as he knows how and who is naturally of a kindly disposition, we have no hesitation in saying that it would be simply an act of humanity for the directors to follow out Governor Pardee's endorsement and re-instate Dr. Osborne into his old position.

From the day the California Home was established at Eldridge and until Dr. Osborne's removal by a political Board of Directors about eighteen months ago, covering a period of many years, the California Home for Feeble Minded Children enjoyed the enviable distinction of being the model institution of its kind in the United States.

Living as they do almost under the shadows of the big institution and knowing all these things, the wonder is not that the people of the Sonoma Valley are now seeking Dr. Osborne's reinstatement but that they did not move in the matter long ago

In behalf of the poor, helpless unfortunate charges of the State housed at the Home and for humanity's sake alone the INDEX-TRIBUNE, which knows whereof it speaks, wishes to go on record as favoring the righting of a great wrong done to these mind-bedimmed children and is now and always will be in favor of placing them under the kind care and experienced training of Dr. Osborne, the one man in all California best suited for the responsible position.

DISCHARGED BUT IS RE-ARRESTED.

Guidotti of Glen Ellen Must Answer to New Charge.

At the preliminary examination of C. Guidotti, on a charge of assult with a deadly weapon, preferred against him by G. Ceccarelli, the prosecution was disappointed in their witnesses, who through fear refused to testify to any material point on which the defendant could be held for trial, says the Republican.

Guidotti was immediately re-arrested on the same charge, the warrant being sworn out by Constable Allen. In addition to the complaining witness there are two other Americans who will testify, and it is expected that the man will be bound over to appear before the Superior Court at the next preliminary.

The accusation against Guidotti is that he shot at Cecceralli at Glen Ellen recently while in a quarrelsome mood due to over indulgence. When Constable Allen sought to place him under arrest, an attempt was made to end the life of the constable. In this Guidotti was unsuccesful and he is now being held on the second complaint.

Jas. Haley, formerly of this place, was in town last Saturday for the first time in ten years. Mr. Haley now resides in Sebastopol.

Miss Gertrude Lane wishes to announce to the public that she will be obliged to withdraw from the contest for Goddess of Liberty, as she expects soon to leave for the East. She extends her thanks to the people of Sonoma for their kindness in choosing her as one of the canidates for Goddess of Liberty.

El Verano is just a-booming. A young man from Petaluma will start a livery stable here next month. The next thing that we will want will be a newspaper.

Emmet Mullen, the young storekeeper and assistant Postmaster of this place, has been appointed the representative here of a big San Francisco clothing house.

A large crowd of people visited this place Sunday. One hundred and fifty of the people registered at the Bellevue Hotel. This speaks well for Mr. Serres, the well-known and popular proprietor.

Jas O'Connor, who umpired the ball game in Sonoma last Sunday, is from San Francisco and is spending his vacation at the Bellevue Hotel. Mr. O'Conner's umpiring was very satisfactory to both the spectators and participants in the game.

"Happy Hooligan," Jack Kearney, Harry Baines, Thos. Mullen, Byron Weaver, Mike Mullen and George Weaver attended the ball game in Sonoma Sunday. "Happy" says he is quite sure that he can scare up in this valley a nine of sixten-year-old youngsters that can give the Sonoma team a merry race on the ball grounds.

C. E. Leuterdt, a young man who has been stopping in El Verano for the past week, was the pitcher who won the game for the Sonoma baseball nine Sunday. Mr Leuterdt was formerly pitcher for the Union Iron Works team in San Francisco and has signed over to Sonoma for the season and it goes without saying that he will do his best to help win all the games that is in his power.

A large crowd of El Verano people will attend the entertainment and dance to be given in Sonoma on the evening of June 10th by the Young Men's Institute for the benefit of the Landmarks Fund. As Sonoma possesses one of the oldest and most historical of the landmarks that is to be restored and preserved by the fund everybody should turn out on this occasion and help the good work along.

The road between the Justi farm and Glen Ellen is now a sea of oil and very hard to travel in its unfinished state, but when completed will be one of the finest thoroughfares in the county.

Celestino Guidotti, who had a hearing before Judge Gibson last Tuesday, will have a preliminary examination Friday on a charge of drawing a pistol on Deputy Sheriff Allen one day last week. District Attorney Pond will be here to conduct the prosecution.

The Congregational picnic held here Saturday was a most enjoyable and lively affair. Races for the young men, maidens and children was one of the most exciting features. A fine band of music and dancing gave zest to the enjoyment and the dear little Sabbath school children entered into the spirit of the occasion and danced right merrily with all the light-heartedness of youth. At five o'clock in the afternoon the picnicers made a rush for the cars and a stampede for home—a tired, happy crowd.

Our burg has been honored by a visit from Mr. J. D. Peters of San Joaquin valley, one of the most prominent men of California—a veteran of the Mexican war, a pioneer of '49 prominently identified with the progress of the State, owner of a line of steamers running between Stockton and San Francisco, possessor of immense tracts of land in San Joaquin and Merced counties and some of the finest and most productive farming land in the State. He is a most remarkable man—the Bubach King of California, but above all else a whole-souled, genial gentleman with broad interests in business affairs which has been one of his most distinguishing characteristics. His life has been full of adventure and activity and his numerous business ventures have been signally successful. It is a great treat to listen to his reminiscences of early days—his struggles and triumphs. Few men have a more felicitous manner and his remarks abound in dry humor and witty jests, for unlike many of our money kings, Mr. Peters was not "born with a silver spoon in his mouth," but has achieved greatness popularity and wealth by his shrewd business abilities and keen perceptions. He is an ideal business man of great executive power and possesses a thoroughness detail seldom equaled and above all possesses in a high degree the honor and moral integrity of character that constitutes the highest type of manhood. His successes have truly been phenominal. Mr. Peters has a fine vineyard of six hundred acres under a high state of cultivation, for whatever he undertakes is done with thoroughness. This vineyard is located in Merced county, where he also has a large tract of land devoted to the culture of bubach and a large factory that converts it into powder and puts it into shape for the market. Bubach originally came from Spain and was introduced into California by Mr. Peters. If this was a country for bestowing titles of nobility Mr. Peters would surely be knighted for introducing and providing the admirable product. Many of our millionaires and self made men after acquiring great wealth in California remove to the Eastern States or some foreign country to live. Mr. Peters loves California and is proud of the State and makes his home here, surrounded by loved ones in this God's favored land, where he has accumulated his great riches. Mr. Peters is visiting his daughter, Mrs. W. L. Ashe, at Warfield, and is delighted with their lovely home and beautiful surroundings. Long may he live to enjoy his well earned laurels and scatter sunbeams of happiness among all with whom he comes in contact.

CURIOUS SCENE IN GENOA.

A Street Where the Sun's Light Is Obscured by Drying Clothes.

One of the most curious scenes in all Italy is to be found in the laundresses' quarter in Genoa. This quarter consists of a short street which is reached by descending a few steps branching off from the main thoroughfare. Buildings of six stories rise on each side of the street, and from every one of their windows is stretched one or more clotheslines sagging with the weight of apparel of every kind and condition. An eternal shadow cast by hundreds of drying garments hangs over this quarter and makes it dark and gloomy. The pedestrian who looks upward toward the blue sky can see nothing but a cloud of variegated shape and color which effectively obscures the light of the sun.

In the center of the street below there stand in a sort of summer house a number of public tanks. Crowds of shrill voiced women gather day by day about this out of door laundry to exchange the gossip of the quarter and wash out their piles of soiled linen. From the appearance of the lines which stretch and intertwine far above the pavement it is to be judged that all the washing that is done in Genoa at all is done in this particular street.—Detroit Free Press.

The First American Book.

It is a remarkable fact that in a year after the first printing press was established in Cambridge, Mass., or in 1640, an American book was issued from it (being the first published in what are now the United States), which was soon after reprinted in England, where it passed through no less than eighteen editions, the last being issued in 1754, thus maintaining a hold on English popularity for 114 years. This was the "Bay Psalm Book." It passed through twenty-two editions in Scotland, where it was extensively known, the last bearing date 1759, and as it was reprinted without the compiler enjoying pecuniary benefit from its sale we have irrefutable proof that England pirated the first American book, being in reality the original aggressor in this line. This first American work enjoyed a more lasting reputation and had a wider circulation than any volume since of American origin, having passed in all through seventy editions, a very remarkable number for the age in which it flourished.

Vernet at the Sea.

Vernet, the celebrated painter of sea pieces, eager in the study of nature, made several long voyages in his younger days in order to observe the various scenes which the changeful elements exhibit. In one of these excursions undertaken merely for the love of the art a most violent gale of wind arose, when Vernet, without attending to the perils with which he was surrounded, desired one of the sailors to lash him fast to some of the rigging.

Soon after this request was granted the storm increased, attended with thunder and lightning and with every circumstance that could add to the horror of the scene, and consternation and terror sat on every countenance, but in the young painter every emotion was lost in that of admiration, which so wholly engrossed his attention that he every now and then exclaimed in the most enthusiastic terms, "Good heavens, what a noble scene!"

True Blue.

The expression "true blue," which we hear so often, has not even an English parentage, but is said to have been a Spanish saying, which meant that the blood that filled the veins of the aristocracy of Spain was blue in color, while that of inferior mortals was more or less black, and the proverb that "true blue will never stain," instead of meaning, as it is generally supposed, that "a noble heart will never disgrace itself," actually refers to the "blue aprons" worn by butchers on account of their not showing blood stains—a far jump this from the blue blood of the haughty Spanish aristocrat to the humble apron of the butcher's boy.—London Lady.

Whales and Bluefish.

The amount of nourishment required to maintain the life of a whale is something which almost passes human imagination. As many as fourteen seals have been taken from the stomach of a sperm whale, says Nature, and his ordinary diet consists of squids, which often weigh several tons. The whalebone whale simply opens his mouth and takes in jellyfish by the wagon load. The bluefish also has an enormous appetite, and it has been estimated that it requires 10,000,000,000 sardines to feed 1,000,000,000 bluefish every summer.

A Good Deed.

Mother (severely)—Johnny, where is that piece of cake I left here when I went out?

Johnny—I gave it to a hungry little boy, mamma, and, oh, he was so glad to get it!

Mother—Come to my arms, you dear, dear angel. Who was the little boy?

Johnny—Me.

What He Knew.

"Can no child tell me what kind of bird Noah sent out of the ark?" asked the superintendent.

"Billy can," volunteered the children. "His father keeps a bird store."—Judge.

Parlor Folderols.

Some of the money spent on folderols in the parlor should really go toward buying hardware for the kitchen and tools for the man of the house to work with.—Atchison Globe.

If we gave assistance to each other, no one would be in want of fortune.—Menander.

DEAFNESS CURED

Louisville Man Originates a Simple Little Device that Instantly Restores the Hearing --- Fits Perfectly, Comfortably and Does Not Show.

190-page Book Free---Tells all About It.

Since the discovery Louisvilleo f a man it is no longer necessary for any deaf person to carry a trumpet, a tube or any such old-fashioned device, for it is now possible for any one to hear perfectly by a simple invention that fits in the ear and cannot be detected. The honor belongs to Mr. Geo. H. Wilson of Louisville, who was himself deaf, and now hears as well as any one. He calls it Wilson's Common Sense Ear Drum, is built on the strictest scientific principles, containing no metal of any kind, and is entirely new in every respect. It is so small that no one can see it, but nevertheless it collects all sound waves and diverts them against the drum head, causing you to hear perfectly. It will do this even when the natural ear drums are partially or entirely destroyed, perforated, scarred, relaxed or thickened. It fits any ear from childhood to old age, and aside from the fact that it does not show, it never causes the hearer irritation, and can be used with comfort day or night.

It will cure deafness in any person no matter how acquired, whether from catarrh, scarlet fever, typhoid or brain fever, measles, whooping cough, gathering in the ear, shocks from artillery or through accidents. It not only cures but stays the progress of deafness and all roaring and buzzing noises. It does this in a simple, sure and scientific way. The effect is immediate.

Let every person who needs this, at once send to the company for its 190-page book, which you can have free. It describes and illustrates Wilson's Common Sense Ear Drums and contains many bona fide letters from numerous users in the United States, Canada, Mexico, England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales, Australia, New Zealand, Tasmania, India. These letters are from people in every station of life, clergymen, physicians, lawyers, mercnants, society ladies, etc., and tell the truth about the benefits to be derived from the use of this wonderful little device. You will find among them the names of people in your own town or State, and you are at liberty to write to any of them you wish and secure their opinion as to the merits of the only scientific ear drums for restoring the hearing to its normal condition.

Write to-day and it will not be long before you are again hearing. Address, for the free book and convincing evidence, Wilson Ear Drum Co., Todd Building, Louisville, Ky., U. S. N.
